I am the Executive Director of Rainbow Trail Lutheran Camp located in the Sangre de Cristo Mountains of southern Colorado. We strive to give our campers a full and adventurous experience during their time with us. Part of the reason we are able to provide a full and well-rounded experience is our partnership with Arkansas River Tours.

I have had the pleasure to work with Arkansas River Tours (ART) over the last 31 years. Rainbow Trail was already working with ART before I arrived here. It is out of that long history that I can highly recommend Arkansas River Tours for your group.

Arkansas River Tours provides an experience that is safe, full of fun and excitement, and full of great memories for our campers. The experiences have been good for both the novice and experienced rafter. ART's guide staff is well trained, and they respond to critical situations with a calm demeanor and professionalism that you would expect.

Billy Marquis, Arkansas River Tours' owner, has been a great partner for me. He is open to conversation, to improving his program and his guides, and is responsive to any concerns that we might have. Bottom line, I know my staff and campers are going to be in good hands when they put into the river with ART. Rainbow Trail uses ART for close to 20 rafting trips every summer. Billy's strong leadership reflects in his guides which makes for a solid and consistently good experience every time.

We have had several other rafting companies approach us, encouraging us to change to their company. Because of our long history and our excellent safety record with ART, we will continue to use Arkansas River Tours as our rafting partner for our summer program.
